From the Marriott Hotel (follow the orange line on the map above)
(Also the Marriott is providing a shuttle service to the Law School)
• Exit the hotel and go right, onto the side street, Chatham Square.
• Then turn right, and walk up Chatham towards Duquesne University (you'll see a huge steel frame sign over MacAnulty Drive, the road going up to campus).
• Go one block, to the end of Chatham, until you get to Forbes Ave.
• Go left, crossing Chatham, and you'll pass in front of the Barnes & Noble Bookstore located in the Duquesne University Power Center.
• After the bookstore entrance is the main entrance to the Power Center. Enter the Power Center. After you enter the Power Center, you'll see a bank of elevators on your left, in the lobby.
• If the Power Center is closed, cross the street and use the elevator in the lobby of the Forbes Parking Garage
• Take the elevator to the top floor, exit to your right, to the campus.
• If you entered from the Power Center, you will walk through the covered sky bridge to the top level of the Forbes Parking Garage and the campus.

From the Forbes Parking Garage
• If you drove to the campus, park in the Forbes Parking Garage (Forbes is a one-way street, but you can circle the block on your left if you go too far).
• Get a ticket from the machine at the entrance. (You will need that ticket to depart in your car, later the attendant will take the ticket and not charge you, because your name will be on a list we will provide).
• Park as high in the garage as you can, because you want to leave the garage on foot at the top level.

Walking from the Forbes Parking Garage
• When you walk out of the garage on the top level, or leave the sky bridge from the Power Center, look for a faux-brick walkway going towards the center of campus, between the pair of parking garages and the Gumberg Library (you'll see the university's co-generation power plant). Follow that walkway to Locust Street. You'll be across from the Duquesne Union. Cross the street and go right. The red-brown brick building on your left is the School of Law.

Enter the School of Law and please check-in at the table in the lobby.