PARALEGAL INSTITUTE INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Thank you for your interest in Duquesne University School of Law’s Paralegal Institute.

English language ability must meet or exceed a TOEFL examination score of 90, with a score in all subsections of 20 or higher for listening, speaking, writing and reading. Candidates must successfully complete an admissions interview in order to establish the necessary fluency. The TOEFL examination must have been completed within nine (9) months of the application to the Paralegal Institute.

Any international student applicant who does not meet the above qualifications is required to take the ESL Placement Test. Should the test result in a score lower than 90, or subsection scores lower than 20, candidates will be required to work closely with ESL to make sure they complete required English language coursework. Testing by the Duquesne University ESL Department is available. Failure to satisfy this condition will result in termination of enrollment in the Paralegal Institute.
